

Vismay.

A studio for human-built IP on a reclaimed internet.

WHY

The internet stopped being ours.

The internet, distribution, and attention are owned by a handful of feudal techlords. Every feed is shaped by algorithms optimizing for something other than us. AI is eating the parts of work that were never the point.

Vismay is my answer — it's my life's work.

THE MODEL

Partner brings taste — I bring the engine.

I pair with a friend who has a real, durable obsession in a domain — football, finance, F1, fashion, kids, music, travel, food, manufacturing — and we build an IP together. They bring voice, taste, and obsession. I bring the engine, the production pipeline, and the time horizon.

They own the brand. They grow it. I grow with them.

THE REPEATABLE PROCESS

Same pipeline for every IP.

THE ENGINE

@vismay/viz-engine — one runtime, many stories.

A registry-based runtime for scroll-driven, three-layer data stories: persistent map (Mapbox), foreground chart that transitions in place (ECharts), snap-locked text that drives both. Verticals plug in as tree-shaken bundles. Three render pipelines — autoplay MP4, story PDF, TTS audio — dispatched through GitHub Actions.
